HÖRMANN FLEXON DOORS DISPLAYED AT 2009 NADA EXPO

Hörmann Flexon displayed the Speed-Guardian™ 2000 high speed security door and the Speed-Commander™ 1400 SE SoftEdge self-repairing door at the recent NADA Expo in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The Speed-Guardian™ 2000 was well-received by new automotive dealer principals and architects because of its impressive opening speed of up to 80" per second. This security door is positioned as an appropriate choice for exterior service doorways in dealerships where employee comfort and energy conservation are priorities. The Speed-Commander™ 1400 SE self-repairing door with unique SoftEdge bottom profile was demonstrative of a state of the art door system for interior door openings, offering maximum safety, protection and sustainability automotive dealerships want.

Peter Burnham, National Sales Manager for Hörmann Flexon, comments: "Many automotive dealerships are increasingly utilizing high performance doors on service doorways to improve productivity, increase energy savings and enhance building aesthetics. These industry leading products can easily handle those specifications as integrated products for building renovations or new construction. "
