PAUL CIARROCHI JOINS HÖRMANN FLEXON

Hörmann Flexon is pleased to welcome Paul Ciarrochi, Jr. as its new electrical engineer. Paul has extensive experience in electrical and mechanical design, PLC programming, troubleshooting, installation and project management.

Mark Permigiani, Vice President of Manufacturing comments: "Paul's expansive electrical and mechanical background will have an immediate impact on our customer support and product development. His 20 years of experience will be a major source of support and information for our customers as we continually develop world class door systems."
